Bringing you News Bites on the latest corporate and audit regulatory developments

Helping aspiring entrepreneurs with the 'Essentials of Starting a Business'

Aspiring entrepreneurs can tap on ACRA's new free online interactive programme to know the essentials for starting a business in Singapore. Apart from business registration and filing information, there is also information contributed by other government agencies in areas such as business licenses, government grants and loans, individual & corporate tax matters, CPF and personal data protection requirements.

Empower your digital solutions with ACRA APIs

The ACRA API Mall now offers a total of 29 API services including API calls to enquire business and financial information of entities from ACRA's datasets. Companies filing annual returns can also tap on the APIs to validate and upload financial statements in XBRL format directly to ACRA's BizFin^x server, which they can then select for filing as part of their annual returns. A test console is now available for interested users to create simulated responses using test data provided in the sandbox environment.
